Flappers' Own Style Show Leans to Longer Skirts

Fifty Gowns Passed by Artists and Social Censors Embodied Moderation in Dress

Flappers for flappers are to be longer, according to the wishes of the sixteen-year-old wearers themselves. All the models on exhibition were made from designs submitted by schoolgirls in a contest, and the resulting creations are the perfect of their kind, when it comes to length. It is said that skirts are to be longer it means that these girls themselves wish skirts to be longer, not that some Paris designer wishes them to be so.

One of the most attractive models was of blue-green tulle, with a tight bodice, fitted sleeves and full skirt, trimmed with platings of the same material. A school costume was of black cloth, trimmed with Ukrainian embroidery, with a blouse of ecru velvet, also trimmed with the brilliant colored embroidery.
